

Dallas Urban Roots Tour

FOR ATTENDEES - Frequently Asked Questions

Is DURT free to attend?

Yes! DURT is completely free and open to the public.

Do I need to register in advance to attend the tour?

You're welcome to visit sites without registering.

However, we do ask that you register so we can reach you with any changes to the printed schedule that may come up over the three-week tour — farmers and growers are people too, with their own health, their ecosystems, and their families to care for, so schedules can shift. You must register before the Finale in order to receive giveaways. The DURT T-shirt also requires an RSVP so we can know quantity and sizes of shirts.

How does the DURT Passport work?

Pick up a physical passport at Kickoff (Sept 26, GLM White Rock Farmers Market) or use the digital version anytime — whichever you prefer. Either way, you'll need to collect a stamp from each site you visit in order to redeem your stamps for growing goodies at the Finale. Your ticket to the Finale is an RSVP and stamp from one (1) farm visit!

Why do the stamps matter?

Honestly, they don't have to! The real point of DURT is simply to get you out meeting growers and exploring their spaces. Stamps are just our way of encouraging a little extra exploration — if you visit at least 1 site, that stamp is your entry ticket to the FINALE (Oct 17th, Central Commons). If you visit 5 sites and bring your stamped passport to the Finale, you're able to redeem an all-inclusive DURT swag bag plus a free ticket to the DIG Summit (Oct 18–19).

What if I can't make it to Kickoff or the Finale?

Since DURT runs on DIG's volunteer crew, physical passports can only be picked up at Kickoff and stamps can only be redeemed at the Finale — we're not able to accommodate pickup or redemption outside of those two dates. If you can't make Kickoff, you can still use the digital passport to participate, keep your stamps from visiting sites and redeem them at the Finale!

Do I need to visit sites in a specific order, or visit all of them?

No — DURT is self-guided. Visit sites in whatever order works for you, on whatever days they're open, throughout the three-week tour.

How do I know when a site is open?

Site hours are listed in the physical passport as well as on the DURT website.

Where can I find a map of all the sites?

There's an interactive map on digsummit.org/durt, also scan the QR code in the passport and be taken directly to the map.

Where is the DURT Finale?

The Finale is Saturday, October 17 at Central Commons. Bring your stamped passport and register on-site to redeem your swag bag and if you have 5 stamps – a DIG Summit ticket (Oct 18-19th)!

GENERAL

What exactly is a "stamp"?

A stamp is literally a sticker, provided by DIG, printed with each site's name. One sticker is given per visitor, per site — it's your proof that you actually stopped by and met the grower, not just drove past.

We ask that visitors take only one sticker per visit — this keeps the passport an honest record of who really showed up, and helps us make sure the stickers we print for each site actually last the full three weeks.

GOOD GUEST, GOOD GROWTH

These are working farms and gardens, full of living things that growers pour real care into every day. A little courtesy goes a long way toward making DURT wonderful for everyone — growers and visitors alike.

- Come curious, and follow the grower's lead. Each site has its own rhythm and rules — respecting them helps growers keep doing what they love.
- Furry friends are best celebrated from home unless a farmer's given the go-ahead in advance — every space is a little different in what it can safely welcome.
- Bringing a crew of 10 or more? A quick heads-up to the grower helps them roll out the best possible welcome for your group.

Share your favorite moments from the tour and tag @DIG_Collaborative — we love reposting your visits and helping give our local farms even more visibility!